This checklist may help you to organize your thoughts, wishes, actions, when thinking about and planning your medical assistance in dying provision. Everyone’s planning will be unique, with some people keeping the details quite simple, while others wishing to include more details.

You can use this checklist by yourself; discuss it with family, friends, or the Provincial MAID Program Social Worker can assist you in planning for your medical assistance in dying provision.

Remember, you, the patient, have the right to change your mind up until the moment before medications are given. You can either withdraw your request or completely or change it to a later date.

Key details that must be decided and organized with the Provincial MAID Program

- Date of Provision: ____________________
- Time of Provision: __________________________
- Location of Provision:____________________
- Funeral Home:__________________________
- Provincial MAID Program aware of above details: Yes ________

Who will be part of your medical assistance in dying provision and in what ways:

- Key person(s) helping you plan: __________________________________________

- Who will be present (family, friends, children, spiritual support or just you): ________________

- Including people who are not physically present in the room using audio or visual technology: ____________________________________________________________

- Other ways those not present can participate (having someone read a message they wrote or recorded, wishing a special comfort object, picture to be with you, etc.): ________________________________

- Set-up of your space: (where you want to be lying, where you want people in the room (on your bed, sitting beside you, lying with you, holding your hand or touching you, out of your view etc.): ____________________________________________________________
Special Requests/Rituals:

Food: ___________________________ Drink: ___________________________

Special pictures, objects, comforts: __________________________

Clothing, Jewelry: __________________________

Special bedding (blankets/pillows): __________________________

Readings/Prayers: __________________________

Final words (saying goodbye, expressing love, etc.): __________________________

Music: __________________________

Other: __________________________

After your medical assistance in dying death – considerations for those present:

Time with your body for special rituals, goodbyes, comforting each other: __________________________

Wish to remain with your body until funeral home arrives and until your body is removed: __________________________

Special Instructions for family in terms of caring for your personal belongings in the room: __________________________

Other ideas, thoughts, wishes:

____________________________________________________________________________________

____________________________________________________________________________________

____________________________________________________________________________________

____________________________________________________________________________________

____________________________________________________________________________________

____________________________________________________________________________________

____________________________________________________________________________________

____________________________________________________________________________________

____________________________________________________________________________________

____________________________________________________________________________________

____________________________________________________________________________________

____________________________________________________________________________________