Consent, Privacy and Confidentiality

All conversations with the Client Concern Specialist are private and confidential.

As a patient, client or resident, if you have issues or concerns with your care, we need to speak directly to you in order to gain your consent for our involvement. As per The Health Information Protection Act within Saskatchewan, we cannot proceed in our role without an individual's consent.

If you wish to contact our office about your loved one's care, please ensure you make your loved one aware that you are doing so. We will still need to talk to them directly to obtain their consent to proceed, unless their competency to consent is a factor. If they are unable to provide consent for themselves, we would require their health proxy or next of kin to contact the office to provide consent on their behalf.

If you had a great health care experience, please let us know. We can assist you with providing feedback to your care team.
